

Voting Machine Education Program Starts Here Tomorrow

Club Women
Will Serve
As Teachers

Voting machine instruction sessions start tomorrow in four places within the county.

The sessions mark the beginning of a five-day period in which it is planned to have up to 10,000 voters see and operate a voting machine.

That many voters will have the chance to use the new machines Nov. 4. For many it will be the first time, for voting machines have been in previous use only at Barrett Township.

Sponsors of the program to teach everything there is to know about using a voting machine are the members of the Stroudsburg Women's Club and The Daily Record.

The club is supplying the instructors who will demonstrate the machines in the four districts, and answer questions about them.

The women all are volunteers. They were in turn educated on the use of voting machines at a session last week at the courthouse. They learned about operating the machine from John Wolfe, representative of the Automatic Voting Machine Co., maker of the machines which the county bought.

Anyone, whether of voting age or not, whether registered or not, is free to visit any of the instruction centers during open hours. Residents in districts where paper ballots are still in use also are welcome to the instruction sessions, the club said.

The instruction for Tuesday and Wednesday will be from noon to 4:30 p. m. with these instructors: Court House, Stroudsburg: Tuesday, Mrs. Grant Nitraver, Mrs. Irving Kiffin, Mrs. William Toewe; Wednesday, Mrs. Dettlef A. Hansen, Mrs. Elwood Hintze, Mrs. Paul Lloyd.

East Stroudsburg High School: Tuesday, Mrs. James Coleman, Mrs. Evan Reese, Mrs. Harold Rinker; Wednesday, Mrs. Edgar Van Why, Mrs. Byrd McDowell, Mrs. Eli Travis.

Middle Stroud polling place at Arlington Heights: Tuesday, Mrs. Frank Stackhouse, Mrs. John Rumsey.

Smithfield polling place at Buttermilk Falls: Tuesday, Mrs. Nelson Beers, Mrs. Roy Peterson; Wednesday, Mrs. Van Yetter, Mrs. Parke Kunkle.

Moderately heavy traffic filled Monroe County roads as a result of Columbus Day weekend and flaming foliage season, police reported yesterday.

Traffic might have been heavier except for unsettled weather which resulted in showers Saturday morning and cloudy skies Friday and Saturday.

Although there were no construction blocks or detours from the Delaware River to Stroudsburg on Route 611, traffic was at the halted and crawling stage a good part of the afternoon yesterday from the other side of Water Gap to Stroudsburg.

Cars moved slowly and irregularly in long traffic lines on the narrow two-lane stretch passing through the gorge.

Traffic flowing into and out of Stroudsburg—junction of two main arteries—was reported exceptionally heavy by Police Chief James F. McConnell.

Police at the Portland and Delaware Bridge estimated some 15,000 cars crossed the bridges yesterday.

The count at the Port and Delaware Bridge was 3,694 on Friday; 4,102 Saturday; and about 5,000 Sunday.

At Delaware Bridge police reported: 7,136 Friday; 7,485 Saturday; and about 10,000 Sunday. Police at Delaware Bridge said the figure for the second Sunday in October, 1951, had been checked; it was 10,000, or about the same as yesterday's traffic.

Quake Rocks San Francisco

San Francisco (AP) — A rolling earthquake—felt in downtown San Francisco as two distinct shocks—struck the San Francisco area yesterday afternoon—apparently without causing any serious damage.

The quake was felt at 4:34:40 p. m. (PST) in the San Francisco Associated Press Bureau as a sliding, sideways motion lasting about 15 seconds.

It was felt in all parts of the city, in suburbs to the north and south and along the eastern shore of San Francisco Bay.

The Cal Tech seismograph laboratory at Pasadena said it recorded only an extremely light variation—indicating a localized quake in the San Francisco area.

The tremor was not felt at Los Angeles or in the Bakersfield-Tehachapi area devastated by quake this summer.

Two Cash Registers Stolen From Local Inn, Looted Of $385; Automobile Is Also Missing

Canadensis—Two cash registers were looted of $385, the proprietor of The Crossroads restaurant here told police yesterday.

The two registers were carried out of the place, Mount Pocono troopers said, between Saturday night closing time and 6 a. m. yesterday.

At the same time, police were checking for any connection between the restaurant burglary and the theft of an expensive, 12-Mountainhome between 10:30 p. m. Saturday and 2 a. m. yesterday.

Loss of the car was reported by Joseph Murphy, Olyphant, who was stopping in Mountainhome Saturday night.

The burglary of the Crossroads was discovered by the owner, Adolph W. Locher, when he opened up at 6 a. m. Entry had been gained through a rear door which opened into a beer garden extension built onto the rear of the restaurant.

The thieves had carried both cash registers outside—one from the beer garden section, containing about $75 in change, and the other from the restaurant, containing $310.

The cash register from the bar was the one found first. It was located 25 or 30 feet behind the building, near a garage. It was empty but undamaged. The cash drawer had not been locked.

The other register was found by accident in Brodheads Creek by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Long, 5 Spangenburg Ave., East Stroudsburg, about 2 p. m. yesterday.

It had been dumped in the creek along Route 290 on the Paradise-Stroud Townships border.

The Longs had been out for a ride. They left their car for a walk along the creek, to the spot where Mr. Long had swum as a boy.

He was pointing out the site of the old swimming hole to his wife when she spotted a piece of paper, picked it up, said, "Look what I've found."

It was a paycheck, already endorsed. Next the couple spotted the cash register, lying on the bottom of the creek in about two feet of clear water, some three feet from the bank.

The Longs rode to the East Stroudsburg police station, reported what they had found and seen to borough officers. Pfc. Peter Walsh was notified at the Stroudsburg substation. He and East Stroudsburg police Chief Arthur Swink visited the spot at the creek and managed to haul the cash register ashore.

They found its cash drawer front had been battered off and the compartments in the drawer broken. The contents had been cleaned out.

Both cash registers are being sent to the Wyoming State police barracks for fingerprints checks, police said.

Locher, the restaurateur, has been tapped by hard luck once before. Almost a year ago an automobile came down a hill near the restaurant, out of control on a curve and crashed through the front door of the restaurant. The vehicle came to rest in the smashed, littered dining room of the place. There were no patrons present at the time. Damages ran to four or five thousand, however.

Prison Riot Is Smashed

Trenton, N.J. (AP) — About 20 knife-carrying prisoners who barricaded themselves in a wing of Trenton State Prison with 300 fellow inmates staged a two-hour revolt last night.

The riot was broken up when correction officers firing machine guns over the inmates' heads broke through a barricade of stools, tables and wooden scaffolding.

Two inmates were wounded by ricocheting bullets, prison officials said. One of the prisoners was reported in serious condition in the hospital with a bullet wound high in his chest. The other suffered only a superficial wound in the hand, they said.

Getting Rougher

Vienna (AP) — Iron Curtain refugees arriving in Austria claim Communist police of Eastern Europe are turning more and more to physical torture to extract "confessions" from anti-Communists.

The refugees allege the tortures have replaced the mental and emotional pressures which the Communists formerly used to force prisoners to sign the documents needed for Communist courts.

Police Seek Mad Killers Of Children

Chester, Calif. (AP) — Authorities of this little mountain town, shocked by the savage murder of a well-liked groceryman and three children, pressed the hunt yesterday for the killer or killers.

Sheriff's deputies scoured the rugged, pine forest country of Plumas and Lassen Counties for leads to the slaying that took the lives of Gard Young, 45, his two daughters, Judy, 6, Jean, 7, and a neighbor boy, Michael Sailer, 4.

Young's third daughter, Sondra, 3, was beaten and jammed into the trunk of Young's car along with the others. She was reported "doing well" at nearby Westwood Hospital.

Plumas Sheriff M. H. Scholer planned to interview the child today, but was told she was still in a state of shock.

Authorities hope that Sondra can help them crack the mystery of the grisly killing in which robbery apparently was the motive. Some $7,100 Young had withdrawn from a Westwood bank was taken. He and the children were en route home when attacked.

Officers said they had few leads to go on. They questioned 14 persons but released them all by early morning.

"We're looking for a madman or a desperate man," Scholer said. "He would have to be one of those to kill those little children."

Police of California, Nevada and Oregon have been alerted to be on the lookout for the car, but no trace of it has been reported.

Young's car was found yesterday on a lonely logging road six miles east of Chester after an all-night search.

Moving East

Tehran, Iran (AP) — Iran's new foreign minister, former Deputy Premier Hossein Fatemi, announced yesterday he is altering the nation's foreign policy by assigning top diplomats to Asian and neighboring countries rather than to Western nations as formerly. Iran's biggest neighbor is Russia, to the north.

Ike Moves Out To Populous East States

Denver (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower started a week of political big-game hunting yesterday, pointing toward the populous states on the Atlantic seaboard after still another invasion of the traditionally Democratic South.

The battle for the presidency, moving toward a climax, has only three weeks to go.

With time running out, there were indications at the general's headquarters in Denver today he may be adding still more speech-making appearances to his already crowded campaign plans. His advisers are watching for "soft spots" on the Republican map, and at the same time weighing Eisenhower's chances of cracking a number of Democratic strongholds.

An aide said today he may spend two full days in Pennsylvania instead of trying to cover that state with one sweep of whistle stops.

GOP strategists have been eyeing the sharp rise in registrations, especially in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and the coal regions. In the past, these areas have returned Democratic majorities but not of sufficient size to counter balance the rest of the state. The Republicans carried it in the 1948 presidential election.

Rep. Hugh Scott of Philadelphia, former Republican national committeeman, brought up to the minute information on Pennsylvania to Eisenhower here. He has been in conference with the general's top advisers. Whether it was Scott's advice that an extra day be added to Eisenhower's time in Pennsylvania was not known and a final decision has not yet been taken.

If Pennsylvania is a potential soft spot, Texas, the Eisenhower people believe, is a major danger area for the Democrats.

In any case they have mapped a heavy schedule of appearances for the general in that state.

Eisenhower was born there and he will have the sentimental advantage of touring Texas on his birthday, Oct. 14. The program calls for him to speak at Dallas, Ft. Worth, Houston, the Alamo in San Antonio, Waco and Lubbock. In some of these appearances he will be introduced by Gov. Allan Shivers.

Service Clubs Will Pay Honor To Fred Waring

Monroe county service clubs join forces tomorrow to honor "Mr. Pennsylvania of Monroe County" — Fred Waring.

Members of all county groups are expected to attend a special combined luncheon meeting tomorrow at noon at the Penn-Stroud Hotel honoring Waring for his services to this state and the area.

Principal speaker at the luncheon meeting will be William S. Livengood, secretary of the Department of Internal Affairs in Harrisburg.

Livengood, in keeping with the general theme of Pennsylvania Week, is expected to discuss the Commonwealth and its contributions to citizens and the nation.

Waring was named in unanimous action by all county service clubs to receive the title "Mr. Pennsylvania of Monroe County" from a list of names drawn up by the combined groups.

In addition to his leadership in television and radio, Waring has established Waring Enterprises as one of the foremost sheet music and music magazine publishers in America today.

Owner of Shawnee Inn, his interest and activity in sports and other community affairs, has made him a leader in Monroe county benefits.

Silent Film Actor Dies

Pacific Palisades, Calif. (AP) — Jack Conway, 65, silent film leading man who became one of Hollywood's top directors, died Saturday night of a pulmonary ailment.

Conway, who had been ill three years, brought such films as "Boon Town," "Viva Villa," "A Tale of Two Cities" and "The Hucksters" to the screen.

Major Independent Voter Shift Is Now Claimed By Stevenson's Campaigners

Springfield, Ill. (AP) — Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson's campaign manager claimed last night there is a "major shift" of independent voters underway from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower toward the Democratic nominee.

Wilson Wyatt, Stevenson's top adviser, told a news conference he believes the movement is of such "emphatic volume" as to point toward victory for the Democratic candidate in next month's election.

In the same vein, Secretary of Labor Tobin came up with a prediction that Stevenson will carry New York state, with its vital 45 electoral votes, because of "disillusionment" among the voters with Eisenhower's campaign actions.

"When Eisenhower married Jenner and McCarthy, he had to pay a great price—and that price is losing the state of New York," Tobin told a meeting of labor leaders here.

Tobin alluded to Eisenhower's announced support for Sen. Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin and Sen. William E. Jenner of Indiana, both of whom have assailed the patriotism of the GOP nominee's old friend, Gen. George C. Marshall.

Tobin said this had caused a "tremendous number" of independent voters in New York to switch from Eisenhower to Stevenson.

Wyatt said that trend is widespread throughout the country.

"This is going on to such an extent that we think the shift of people from Eisenhower is being made in a major way," Wyatt said.

"There is great disillusionment about the general and a belief that he no longer represents the principles these voters thought he did represent. They believe Stevenson represents those principles."

Washington (AP) — National Democratic Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell said last night "I agree that it is time for a change" but "I think that a change is offered by Gov. Stevenson."

Mitchell, a long-time friend of the Democratic presidential nominee, said in a radio broadcast that Stevenson is 52 and "belongs to another generation than that of the outgoing President."

The Democratic chairman was interviewed by Paul L. Martin, chief of the Washington Bureau of the Gannett newspapers, in a program recorded for broadcast.

Questioned about government corruption, Mitchell agreed "that is a very important matter" but declared:

"This thing of saying that corruption is part of a policy of a party is just nonsense. It is personal to people."

He said there were some Republican senators "who don't look very good" as a result of congressional probes into tax matters.

Mitchell was serving as counsel to the House subcommittee investigating the Justice Department at the time Stevenson picked him to be the party's national chairman.

This subcommittee, headed by Rep. Clegg (D-Ky.), "is to be congratulated on the work that it has done," Mitchell said, "and, as in all these things in our government, good government is good politics."

"I think that it is to the credit of the Democratic party, to Congressmen Clegg and to his Democratic and Republican colleagues on that committee to have gone ahead in a proper way, to investigate and to improve the department of government being investigated," Mitchell said.

Mitchell did not expand on his view, voiced most frequently by Republicans, that it is time for a change in Washington.

He was asked by Martin, his interviewer: "According to the public opinion polls, one of the most effective Republican arguments is that 'It's time for a change.' Do you feel that Gov. Stevenson could provide a change?"

Mitchell replied: "I agree that it is time for a change and I think that a change is being offered by Gov. Stevenson."

It was then that he added that Stevenson and President Truman are of different generations.

Diplomats In Seventh Gathering

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — Leading diplomats of 60 nations streamed into New York yesterday for the seventh United Nations General Assembly which opens Tuesday morning. Korean peace plans stand high on the program.

Secretary of State Dean Acheson was due here early last night with his aides. They carry the outline of a plan to have the U.N. vote a new appeal to North Korea and Red China to accept a truce on U.N. terms offered at Panmunjom. Russian truce plans are being brought here by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinskiy, who arrives with his staff tomorrow.

The session's opening days promise an out-and-out clash between the U.S. and Russia on Communist tactics on many world fronts. A new note of Red penetration in the U.N. employes staff was introduced last night to plague Acheson.

Sen. Wiley R. Wis, a member of the U.S. delegation, under Acheson, demanded that the State Department push a purge of alleged American Reds working for the U.N. The State Department was silent on the demand. The permanent U.S. mission here said it knew nothing about the action Wiley said he called for a week ago.

Trygve Lie, U.N. secretary-general, said a few American nationalists had already been fired from the U.N. when U.S. sources provided clear-cut evidence of Communist affiliation. He said he would fire any others on which the evidence was unmistakable. But he would not fire anybody "on mere suspicion or smears."

In addition to meeting the expected Soviet bloc "slam America" campaign, Acheson and his aides will have to deal inside the delegation and with U.N. officials on the Wiley charges.

The U.S. secretary is listed as first to speak in the general policy debates, which may get underway by Wednesday in the new assembly hall, the permanent home of the U.N. on New York's East River.

Truman Is Back In White House

Washington, (AP)—President Truman came home today—to the White House he'll vacate in three months—after a coast-to-coast speaking tour without parallel in American political history.

Never before had a President travelled so far or worked so hard to get the candidate he likes to succeed him.

To describe the President at the end of this 8,500-mile campaign tour you couldn't do better than fall back on the old expression, "tired but happy."

He starts a new three-day trip Wednesday night—through New England and to Brooklyn. And almost as soon as he gets back, he will head to the Midwest again to campaign until election day.

The 68-year-old executive, travelling in the role of retiring Democratic party head, came through the 90-speech grind in better shape than most of the others in his 16-car special train. Still, his voice and his hearing did show a few signs of wear.

Why is the President, at 68, driving himself so hard when he can retire in January to a life of ease at Independence, Mo.?

Alaskans Will Vote Tuesday

Juneau, Alaska (AP)—Alaskans will vote tomorrow in a general election that will test their new political adage, "As Alaska goes, so goes the nation."

The territory's political leaders have been contending in recent years that Alaska has usurped the role of Maine in the old political axiom. They cite some convincing evidence to support the claim.

Alaska's general election, like Maine's is always held in advance of the national election date.

Alaskans, as residents of a territory, do not get a vote in the presidential race. Their nearest thing to a national office is a non-voting delegate to Congress.

Free Booklet Tells How Deaf Hear Again With Startling Clarity, Ease

CHICAGO (Special)—New hope for the 15 million persons in the United States who are hard of hearing was voiced by a noted Chicago acoustical scientist.

He reported that through the miracle of modern electronics it is now possible to overcome deafness even if the loss is severe.

He demonstrated how the deaf can hear again with a clarity and ease they never dreamed possible. According to this electronic engineer, Mr. Sam Posen of Bellone, "the longer a hearing loss is neglected, the harder it is to recapture certain speech sounds and understand them."

To acquaint the hard of hearing readers of this paper with what may be done to help the deaf hear again with startling clarity, full authoritative details about deafness and how to overcome it are described in an informative, new, illustrated booklet, which will be sent in a plain wrapper without any cost or obligation.

To obtain your free copy, simply send your request to: Electronic Research Director, Dept. 513-A, Bellone Hearing Aid Co., 1450 W. 19th St., Chicago 8, Ill. A postcard will do. —Adv.

Pennsylvania PTA Will Meet At Pocono Manor Oct. 20-21

Local Area Will Be Host To Delegates

Pocono Manor — The annual convention of the Pennsylvania Congress of Parents and Teachers is to be held at The Inn on October 20, 21 and 22. The northeast district, of which Monroe County is a party, will be hosts to the convention this year.

Monroe County PTA's are expected to have full representation at the convention. Each PTA is entitled to be officially represented by its president and one other delegate for each 25 members in its unit. Expenses for the delegates are considered legitimate expenditures of PTA funds.

However, the convention is not limited to official delegates and any PTA member is eligible to attend any or all of the convention. The registration desk will be located in the lounge at Pocono Manor, and reservation for official session meals should also be made there.

The program is listed in full, all of the sessions dealing with the general theme "The Child and His Family."

The theme will be presented at the opening event, a dinner at 6:30, on Monday night, with Mrs. Alexander Groskin, state president, presenting the keynote address. There will be assembly singing led by Mrs. Frank Coyne, state chairman of music, special musical numbers, and the introduction of officers. A reception in the terrace lounge will follow the dinner.

The second general session on Tuesday morning will be held in the dining room following breakfast, 8 to 8:30 a. m., and will include the introduction of Future Teachers, who will be guests, and the reports of the committees. Important reports will be those of revisions to the state bylaws, the current civil defense plan, and the 1952-53 legislative program, and the nominating committee.

Workshop sessions will begin at 10:15 a. m. and will include four working groups: (1) The PTA Serves the Family; (2) The Community Serves the Family; (3) PTA programs serve the School and Family; and (4) Parliamentary Procedure.

A luncheon at noon will be followed by an afternoon of workshops. At 1:45, there will be group studies on organizational fundamentals; the PTA Serves; and Leadership techniques for study groups. At 3:30, another group of workshops will be held for council leaders; on tools for leaders; and a film festival.

The dinner meeting on Tuesday night will begin at 6:15 and will feature an address by Dr. O. Spurgeon English, M. D., of Temple University, and state chairman of Mental Hygiene.

Also scheduled for the Tuesday night meeting is the Pennsylvania PTA Chorus, a youth panel led by Addison E. Pohle, state chairman of citizenship; and a talk on Pennsylvania Dutch Folklore and Folk Songs by Dr. J. William Frey, of Franklin and Marshall College.

Climax of the busy day will be parties for the district groups. The breakfast meeting on Wednesday morning will feature an address by Charlotte E. Grave, P. H. D., coordinating director, United Cerebral Palsy, Chestnut Hill Center, and a panel discussion led by Clarence J. Ollendick, state vice president of District 7.

Workshops will begin at 10:15, and the luncheon on Wednesday at noon will feature reports of committees. There will be halloing for state officers throughout the day.

The convention will end with a banquet at 6:30 on Wednesday night, when officers will be installed, and Knox Walker, second vice president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, will speak.

State Wide Air Raid Alert Scheduled For Wednesday

Civil Defense personnel in Monroe County are working out final details for the first State-wide air raid alert on Wednesday afternoon.

The alarms, or "red alert," will sound simultaneously throughout the state at 1:50 p.m. The all-clear, or "white alert," will be sounded at 1:56 p.m.

In Stroudsburg the only alarms will be the street sirens on Main St., which will be wailed (a rising and falling note) for about three minutes. The all-clear will be the steady blast of the factory whistle at Monroe Silk Mill.

In East Stroudsburg both street sirens and the regular fire alarm will be sounded in short, blasts for about three minutes.

For the all clear, a continuous one-minute blast will be sounded.

In other parts of the county, alarm signals will depend on the type of alarm equipment available. In general, the alarm will be a three-minute succession of either warbles or repeated honks or blasts. The all-clear will be one continuous wail or blast.

Industry is not expected to go through any major steps in preparation for the alert. In fact plants working on defense production have been requested to prevent interruptions, it was reported.

In addition to the regular borough police force in East Stroudsburg, some 30 auxiliary CD police are expected to be on the streets and assisting regular officers in halting traffic and directing operations.

In Stroudsburg the traffic will be handled by borough officers only. No CD auxiliary policemen have yet been recruited in Stroudsburg. Here's what the State tells citizens to do when the alert sounds:

At home: get to the safe part of the house, draw shades, extinguish open flames, keep radio on for instructions.

At work: continue normal operations unless a special test has been planned.

On the street: seek shelter immediately in the nearest substantial building.

In a vehicle: Pull over to the curb, shut off the motor, remain in the vehicle until the all-clear sounds.

At theaters: stay in your seat until the all-clear sounds.

Youth Center Draws Crowd

The grand opening of the twin-borough Youth Center Saturday night attracted a crowd of 300 students.

Located in the auditorium of the American Legion building on Washington St., the Youth Center had its first dance of the season with Jimmy Ryan's band providing music.

Doors to the center opened at 7 p. m. By 8:15 nearly 150 students had entered the building and were engaged in playing ping pong and using the Legion bowling alleys.

Shortly after the dance began at 8:30, the crowd reached the 300 mark, officials said.

Members of the Parent Teachers Association served as chaperones for the dance.

During intermission announcement of the Youth Center "tag-day" sale on Saturday, Oct. 18 was made.

Italian Club Banquets On Columbus Day

A crowd of more than 125 persons attended a Columbus Day banquet yesterday at the Italian Mutual Benefit Club on Main St., Stroudsburg.

Acting as master-of-ceremonies for the dinner was Samuel Coco, who served as coordinator of the entertainment and introduced individual performers.

The affair began at 1 p. m. yesterday at the club.

Following the dinner, guests were entertained by group singing and a group of performers which included Anthony Grosso, Michael LaPenna, Carolyn Wilder, Mary Vineyard, Russell Pansy, Anthony Coco, Nunzio Galazzo and Freda Coco.

Rudy Ainspach's Four Rhythms provided music for dancing after the banquet.

Guest of honor at the ceremonies was Rocco Campanaro, second president of the club and one of the organizers of the Mutual society.

Guest speakers were Michael La-

French Attack

Hanoi, Indochina, (AP)—French Union forces launched their first winter offensive against the Communist-led Vietnamese yesterday. It is aimed at entrapping and wiping out sizeable enemy concentrations between Ninh Binh and Phat Diem, 55 to 65 miles southeast of Hanoi.

Squadrons of planes dropping napalm bombs, mobile artillery and 1,000 paratroopers led off the attack in the rice fields and hills along the Day River. The French were using an estimated 10,000 troops in the first big drive since the long seasonal rains ended.

Lions Hosts Tomorrow To Waring Dinner

Lionism in this area will contribute two major events to the local observance of Pennsylvania Week, the first being when the Stroudsburg club serves as host-club at the inter-service club demonstration honoring Fred Waring Tuesday at noon in the Penn-Stroud Hotel. The second will be the charter night ceremony of the newly organized Milford club, which will be launched under the auspices of the Stroudsburg Club.

The Charter Night will be featured on Thursday night at the Tom Quick Inn, Milford, where an elaborate dinner will be served and post-prandial exercises featured. The speaker of the evening will be former District Governor Elton P. Hall, State Secretary Junius Chestnut will be present and speak as well as present the state charter of the club. Lion Hall will present the international charter.

Pennsylvania Week

Pennsylvania Week, opening today and running through Oct. 19, occurs in a period of very high prosperity for the State and the Nation and of very grave danger to the peace of the world.

In the midst of the busy lives we all must lead, and at a time when every effort is being turned toward strengthening the defenses of our Nation, there is not much leisure available for considering some of the questions which each of us must sooner or later ask himself. If one has faith in America and wishes it to be truly strong, he must surely consider what he as a citizen, and what his community are doing to improve the opportunities of the next generation, to add to the present security of the Nation and to raise, so far as possible, the whole tone of community life.

The strength of America, backed though it may be by the guns, tanks and airplanes being constructed in our factories, rests solidly on the faith of our people in the American way of life. That faith is built on the streets, in the houses and in the town halls of our communities. The strength of America begins at home.

Pennsylvania Week provides an opportunity to inquire into such matters as these. Do our public schools provide their pupils with a knowledge of our town, our country and our State, so that they may realize through what efforts sacrifices and enterprise the place we live in was created out of the wilderness? Do our schools inculcate a love of our community and a desire to serve it? Is our community attractive to a visitor and to its own people, and if not, what can be done in the next year to make it so? Has our community a planning and zoning commission to guide its growth and ensure that any public improvements or residential development will yield the greatest benefit at the least possible cost? What are our community's greatest assets and how can we make more use of them? What are the community's greatest handicaps and how can they be eliminated? What can the adult citizen of the community do to help and encourage our young people to find their opportunities here at home? What can they do to increase local pride and satisfaction in community life? Today, because of the grave threats facing the Nation, there is still another question whose answer may prove of vital importance. What have we done to organize for civilian defense, or to meet a situation of public emergency at a time when such an organization may prove necessary to our survival under the unforeseeable conditions of modern war?

Pennsylvania Week is—and should be—an occasion for pride at the great achievements of our State, but in every community it provides, in this critical year, an opportunity for self-examination into a community's affairs and for forming a program of action to secure its future.

Both Are Healthy

The news that both General Eisenhower and Governor Stevenson are in good health gives the American people an assurance they will welcome and deserve.

The presidency carries with it heavy burdens, mental and physical. Only a strong, healthy man can endure. It is generally agreed that Franklin D. Roosevelt hastened his death by running for another term when he was ill and exhausted.

The current candidates were wise to permit their physicians to disclose all the facts of their physical condition. Such reports should be standard practice in presidential races.

Michigan produces more salt than any other state in the Union.

Americans consume one pound of fish to 17 pounds of meat.

On Broadway

—by Walter Winchell

The First-Nighters: The theater's watchmen almost unanimously footed a revival of Somerset Maugham's "The Sacred Flame." N. Y. Journal-American critic McClain's verdict: "Expertly acted, but sheds a feeble light."

The week's other contender was a George Abbott farce called "In Any Language." It was rec'd with hot and cold notices: the players winning more words than the show. Mixed reactions ranged from funny to foxy. Aisleman W. F. Kerr (Herald-Trib) huffed: "Works up some laughter now and then . . . Five new shows will autograph Broadway marquee this week, including Geo. B. Shaw's 'The Millionaires.' Kate Hepburn is the chief reason for the hefty advance sale . . . 'An Eve's With Bea Lillie' is the Must-Not-Miss Hit . . . The quaintly-christened play, 'The Time of the Curious,' was inspected by Variety's Williamson (Del.) detective. His summation: Shirley Booth's emoting is wonderful—the script isn't."

In the Wings: One of the French Casino show-gels (an Evelyn Tower) was telling an undressing-room-mate that she had a heavy date with a millionaire the next afternoon . . . "Don't be silly," said her listener, "where can you go in the afternoon?" . . . "Shopping," was the giggled retort . . . Item: "Truman Enjoying Himself On Tour" . . . First guy to have a good time on the Road to Oblivion.

The Cinematic: A melodious dapper named "Just For You" is blessed with Bing's singalonging and Jane Wyman's boy-joying . . . "Army Bound" isn't sturdy enough to pass its physical . . . "Hurricane Smith" displays gold-hunting pirates plus Yvonne De Carlo's nuggles . . . Roberto Hope's "Son of Paleface" is another shot in-the-funnybone for hope-bonds . . . "Smoky Canyon" offers a thorn off the old cactus . . . "The World in His Arms" is lusty, light-lightening adventure with Greg Peck expertly playing Mr. Daredevil . . . "Lost in Alaska" burdens Abbott & Costello with frozen jokes. Jean Peters is the top tingle . . . "Pirate Submarine" sinks.

Behind the Scenery: Equity Isn't Foolin' Dept: Cornelia Otis Skinner, now on tour in her solo revue "Paris 90", had to elect an Equity deputy for her show this week. Her stage mgr. is ineptible as deputy, and since Cornelia is the only member of her cast she had a solemn conference with herself and elected Cornelia Otis Skinner as deputy. Now, if she has any complaints about the way she treats herself, she can take it up with herself.

Prior to going on tour (to coast) the star had to post the usual bond with Equity. To guarantee herself two wks salary.

These Days -- By George E. Sokolsky

Containment Or Liberation
During the parade of Polish groups in New York in memory of the 17th anniversary of the death of General Casimir Pulaski, signs were carried which bore the slogan, "Not Containment but Liberation."

The American policy toward Soviet Russia was prepared in secret at Tehran, Yalta and Potsdam. No matter how worded, that policy provided that Soviet Russia was entitled to friendly nations on her border. No matter how interpreted, such a policy could only mean that the United States connived with Stalin for the subjugation of such countries as Poland, Rumania, Bulgaria and China, Latvia, Lithuania, Estonia and part of Finland had already been absorbed in the Russian Empire.

The borders of an empire stretch out to where they encounter resistance. Therefore, the Russians, having subjugated the countries immediately on her borders, insisted that other countries adjacent to those absorbed be friendly. Thus, Eastern Germany, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Yugoslavia, Austria and Albania were required to become "friendly" by which they meant absorbed in the ever-growing empire.

By March, 1947, the United States woke up to the trend and Harry Truman proclaimed the doctrine of containment. It was,

In a sense, an immoral doctrine for it recognized the enslavement already accomplished.

From a practical standpoint, containment was designed to call a halt to Russian expansion. President Truman, in his incredible whistle-stop campaign, has stated that this so-called Truman Doctrine has been a complete success, that since he has spoken Stalin has not crossed a single border.

This, of course, is literally untrue. Since March, 1947, when Truman issued his containment doctrine, the whole of China has been conquered by the Soviet power. Since then, the wars in Indo-China and Malaya have been in process to this day. Since then, Soviet Russia has engaged in a war for the conquest of Korea, a war that has cost us 120,000 casualties, including 21,000 dead.

It is difficult quite to understand the basis for the President's supposition that Soviet Russia made no further progress, unless we assume that his knowledge of and interest in the world is limited to Western Europe. From the standpoint of world peace, however, Iran is not to be overlooked because it is not in Western Europe.

In recent months, the tendency among those who are discussing this problem is to substitute the word, liberation, for the word, containment.

But liberation involves many problems. It could mean subsidizing revolutions in all the countries on the periphery of the Russian Empire. It could mean financing and guiding terrorist groups. It could mean waning away from the Soviet Empire, governments now attached to it.

In the general discussions of the word, liberation, no definitions are provided. This is not unusual, as politicians always prefer generalities to precise ideas.

If we take Poland as an example and the same applies to all the other countries—liberation by revolution must include premature uprisings with resultant pogroms. If we foment this among the countries immediately adjacent to Soviet Russia, it could mean an immediate fighting war between the Dnieper and the Rhine.

For such a war, the few NATO divisions planned at Lisbon would be inadequate to meet the approximately 325 divisions which Soviet Russia has in Europe.

From all the evidence available in spite of great secrecy, it is possible to estimate the Soviet divisions in Europe as follows:

Russian, 250; Polish, 40; Rumanian, 15; Hungarian, 10; Bulgarian, 8; Albanian, 2. Total 325. This does not include any Asiatic divisions available for service in Europe. On this subject, word comes out of China for which I find no confirmation but which may be true, namely, that Kalmuk, Buriat, Mongol and other Asiatic forces are being organized to police the satellite countries against uprisings. Such data often prove correct after a period of time and therefore I state it here with qualifications.

The question of terrorist groups is different. We speak of it perhaps more politely as guerrilla warfare. This can be exceedingly disturbing to an empire and can be especially costly at a period of consolidation. Yet, it is doubtful whether liberation can be achieved by terrorism.

Here then is a problem that requires clear and objective thinking, for it is a dangerous adventure. It ought not to be hurried about in the course of a political campaign, as too many innocent lives are involved.

Try And Stop Me

—by Bennet Cerf

Composer Arthur Schwartz and Howard Dietz, who writes the lyrics for most of Schwartz's melodies, composed a score for a new show in Manhattan last summer. They usually worked far into the night, and the tenants on the floor below wailed more and more loudly. After one particularly bitter complaint, Composer Schwartz sighed, "I guess we'll have to find another place to work." "Yeah," agreed Dietz, "but I ask you to remember that it's your music they're kicking about; never my lyrics!"

Mrs. Donald Klopfer boasted to her Flemington Literary Circle that her husband had given up smoking for a year. "That must have taken plenty of self-control," said Mrs. Trague admiringly. "Exactly," agreed Mrs. Klopfer, "and that's just what I've got."

Tallulah—In my book I do not fight the Civil War all over again or cross the ocean on a raft. Groucho—Some of the people you wallops in that yarn will feel as if they had been through both experiences.

Tallulah—Tell me, Groucho, has it a chance to be chosen the Book of the Month?

Groucho—Only if the jury is spiced with Southerners, baby.

Tallulah—Mr. Marx having indulged (what am I saying?) my book, I turn to you, Miss L. I'm sorry, for unfavorable criticism. Did you read it?

Ethel—No, but I thought it wonderful.

Tallulah—How could you enjoy it if you never read it?

Ethel—That's the only way I could like it.

Tallulah—What was your chief impression?

Ethel—I thought it a little shocking in its candor.

Tallulah—What did you expect, "Herbert Hoover's Memoirs"?

Ethel—Yes.

Tallulah—Sum up, Ethel!

Ethel—I would say few authors have told so much about so many for so much. But it will leave your public pretty sore.

Groucho—To be in love with only two men, one of whom is dead. The other, who is still alive, you keep secret.

Tallulah—Maybe I should boost the sales by identifying the man now and end the guessing.

Tallulah Meets The Critics

Tallulah Bankhead is opening her first video program with a sketch in which, with Groucho, Marx and Ethel Barrymore, she burlesques the "Author Meets The Critics" program. — News item

Tallulah—Well, Groucho, you read my book, of course.

Groucho—Yes, I enjoyed every chapter of "Crusade in Europe."

Tallulah—That's the wrong book.

Groucho—Oh, I remember now, you wrote that new one, "Giant," with Edna Ferber.

Tallulah—Buster, when I write about Giants they're plural and the scene is the Polo Grounds, not Texas. The title of my book was "Tallulah."

Groucho—I wish I could make the questions that tough on my program.

Tallulah—What part did you enjoy most?

Groucho—I liked the part where the big fish towed you four days and nights and the sharks stripped it to the bones by the time you got back to Havana.

Tallulah—That was Hemingway's "The Old Man and the Sea."

Groucho—My mistake. You're the author of "Tallulah the Old Girl of NBC." I read your other story, "Blood, Sweat and Tears."

Tallulah—That was just the chapter in which I told of my romance with Lillian Hellman and my experiences with Billy Rose, Leonard Hayward, Louis R. Mayer and Somerset Maugham. Do you think my book has suspense and drama?

Groucho—Yes, I think it falls somewhere between "Kon Tiki" and "Gone With the Wind."

Oops! Recently it was stated here that a waitress' tips, in a malapropos lunchroom, average 50 or 75 cents per individual diner. Seems I put too much baking-powder in that morsel. This is to advise the income-tax people and others whose eye-brows went up that a waitress averages such a reward only when waiting on a table full of diners.

By the way—and this has nothing to do with the case—if you intend to become an embezzler you have to have the following qualifications, according to H. O. Molitor of the Continental Casualty Company. This is what the average embezzler is like:

He is 35; employed nine years and three months; on the job six years and five months before his first theft; continued his thefts three years and two months before detection.

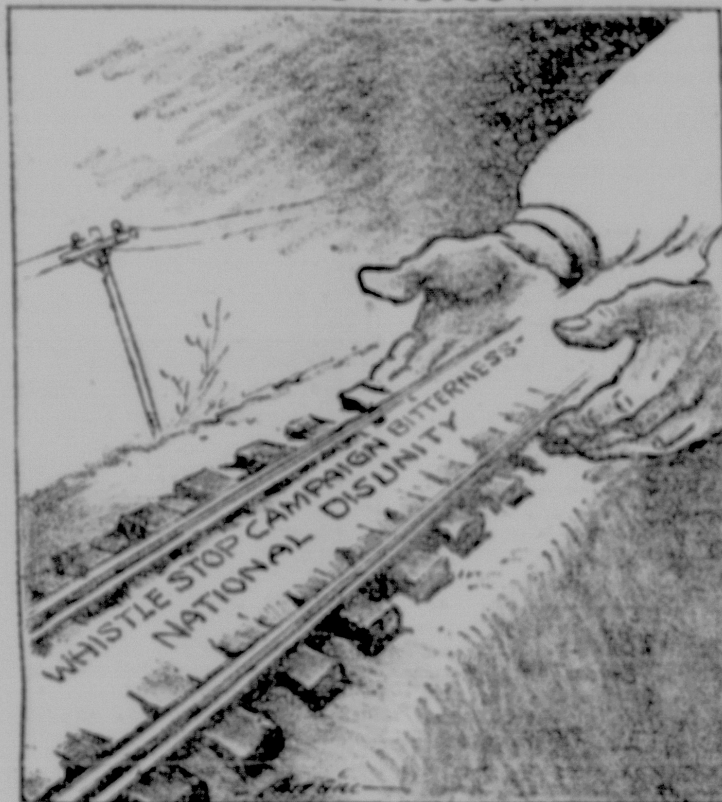

Ninety-three per cent of all embezzlers are men.

About the same percentage of all drug store customers are women.

Perhaps the reason I thought of this item is that "imaginary patients" do a lot of embezzling from their own joy of living.

But there the comparison ends.

ROAD TO MOSCOW

Looking At Life

—by Erich Brandeis

Do you know that there are approximately 5,000 different cures for man's various ailments?

For the common cold alone there are no less than 368 items, for upset stomachs 585, for nervous troubles 175.

I have these figures from Joe Colgan, Westport's most popular druggist, whose establishment is a regular medical department store.

The above figure of 5,000 does not include all the "front" items a modern drug store has to carry, such as cigars and cigarettes, cosmetics, sandwiches, fountain pens and candy.

They are simply the things that are supposed to keep people in good shape for tomorrow and the day after.

In Goshen, Vt., they recently had an unusual celebration.

Riverside Drive . . . From the reviewer for Metropolitan Host, the theatrical guide: "Critical Digest ran an average of current plays, based on reviews of 30 critics. The show with the lowest acceptance record is 'Wish.' The pro-average is 250. But that musical click is the toughest ticket to buy, despite the critical thumbs-down. In other words, one columnist (WW) sells more tickets than all the critics."

Love-Letter: "Just a line about your visit to the lower dressingroom after the Yanks defeated the Dodgers. You may not know it, but some of the men were very happy to see you for the first time. They told me your visit to chat for a moment took some of the sting out of losing. You saw yourself what real champs they were in defeat, also bossman O'Malley, who took it on the chin graciously twice since taking over the ball club—L. Rudd, Ebbefts Field."

Everyone loves a Winner! But more people like a Loser—because Everyone's Been a Loser.

The Telebrities: "All Star Review" indicated the importance of material. A dozen stars toiled hard to put some bite in a script that was generally toothless . . . The sameness of the biogcast formats is best illustrated by the "new" program, "Two for the Money"—a carbon of Groucho's quip-and-query-quorum .

Washington Report

—by Fulton Lewis, Jr.

San Francisco, Oct. 12 — California Republicans are in a mood to crack down on Governor Earl Warren, whose personal feuding with Senator Richard Nixon has Democrats from coast to coast grinning with delight.

Warren still blames the GOP vice-presidential nominee for ruining what he thought were his own excellent chances for the presidential nomination. This is Warren's personal pipe dream and it is far removed from the political realities that existed in Chicago at convention time.

The governor's peevish, however, is hurting GOP chances in California, but this seems to be the least of Warren's worries. In fact, the Governor delighted California Democrats recently by trotting out to climb aboard President Truman's campaign train when it came into the state. For his consideration he got a pat on the back from Truman along with Presidential sympathies over the way Nixon is supposed to have cheated him out of the presidency. The kind words from Truman delighted the Governor, but left almost every other GOP politician in the state gagging with disgust.

Many Democrats, running for office shudder at the thought of an endorsement from Truman. They consider such an event a short-cut to political suicide. But not the Republican Governor of the State of California. He not only liked what he heard, but had no criticism to offer when the President was cussing his way across the state, spewing falsehoods at every railroad crossing.

In climbing aboard the Presidential train, Warren probably figured he was joining distinguished political company. He is the third GOP politician awarded the President's political medal of merit. The other two are Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon and Senator William Langer of North Dakota. Both label themselves Republicans but there is no sensible reason for their doing so.

Just as Warren does, the two Senators enjoy having their pictures taken with Mr. Truman—just like any ward heeling Democrat.

Prior to the Truman train incident most California Republicans felt the Governor could be of help to the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket. Now they lay their political plans without considering him. And the fact that there do so jarred the Governor to the point where he announced he would make a few speeches in the closing days of the campaign. Republicans are not jubilant, however, in anticipation of what they expect to hear.

Warren still wants to go to Washington. He thinks now that if Eisenhower and Nixon are elected he can persuade party politicians in the state to endorse him for appointment to replace Nixon in the Senate.

To do so Warren would have to resign with a firm commitment from Goodwin Knight, the Lieutenant Governor, to name him for Nixon's Senate seat. Knight is a party regular who may have other ideas. He has considerable political standing and Republicans are convinced he could be elected Governor against anybody the Democrats might put up in opposition.

Warren's other hope, of course, is for an appointment in a GOP President's Cabinet. But he seems to think he can work his way to Washington by throwing political tantrums in California. West Coast Republicans express an opposite view. They have learned in their political schooling that the road to success is paved with political favors. Since Warren isn't doing any for the party at the moment there is a strong conviction here that nobody will owe him anything if the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket is elected.

Awards in politics are not acquired by a system of divine right. This, however, seems to be the theory propelling the Governor of California in his current gyrations in the direction of the Democrats. Right now he needs his party more than it needs him. When his present term of Governor expires he has no place to go except to Washington if the Republicans win. But if they do it will be without much help from him.

The best that can be said about Warren is that he is consistent. He refused to campaign for Nixon when the Vice Presidential candidate won election to the Senate; he refused to release his convention delegates to Eisenhower or Taft; and now he plays at being a pummy when the political chips are down in his home state. Few hearts are brimming with gratitude for the Governor at the moment.

Church Supper Finances New Oil Burner

Swiftwater — The oil burner heating system of the St. Paul's Reformed Church will be paid for in full as a result of the huge success of the recent baked ham supper held by the Ladies Aid Society.

At the meeting, Thursday night, of the organization, a rising vote of thanks went to Mrs. Joseph Moscow for her especially untiring efforts at soliciting for the supper, which, along with the cooperation of the other members and helpers, accounted for the resulting large amount cleared.

Mrs. Arthur Kresge, presiding officer, opened the meeting with an interesting reading, followed by prayer. Mrs. John Lindstedt was hostess, assisted by Mrs. Walter Coffman. The group worked at cutting carpet rags during the evening.

It was decided that the Ladies Aid would sponsor the November bulletin for church services. An antique desk, which had been stored in the church basement, was purchased by Mrs. Lindstedt. The duties of church care for the month will be assumed by Mrs. Walter Rowe and Mrs. Russell Bach. Next month's meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Helen Schmidt, with Mrs. Russell Shick as co-hostess.

Delicious refreshments were served on individual trays by Mrs. Lindstedt and Mrs. Coffman, to the following: Miss Beatrice Bush, Mrs. Elwood Warner, Mrs. Francis Coffman, Mrs. George Hahn, Mrs. Russell Shick, Mrs. Lewis Heckman, Mrs. Russell Bach, Mrs. Walter Davis, Mrs. William Foose, Mrs. Walter Rowe, Mrs. Helen Schmidt, Mrs. Clarence Rinker, Mrs. Arthur Kresge, Mrs. Harry Heller, and Mrs. David Nelson.

Donnie Mutchler Is One Year Old

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Mutchler, of 168 Elizabeth St., East Stroudsburg, were hosts to a group of friends in celebration of the first birthday of their son, Donnie, on Wednesday night. Donnie received many gifts.

Those attending were: Donnie's paternal grandmother, Mrs. Ida Mutchler, his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Mery, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Fredmore and children, John and Jeffrey, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fredmore and son, Stephen, Mrs. Arthur Mutchler, Mrs. Eugene Mutchler and son, Gene, Mr. and Mrs. John Mery and daughters, Sandra, Judy and Susan; Mr. and Mrs. Warren McNeill and daughter, Kay; Mrs. Raymond Mery, and Miss Elaine Mery.

Anita Satabine Is Honored On 15th Birthday

Saylorsburg — Miss Anita Selatine celebrated her 15th birthday on Friday when she entertained a group of classmates from Stroudsburg High School at a birthday party at her home, Ye Saylors Inn. The girls, arriving in the afternoon, had games, entertainment and a supper party including a tiered birthday cake.

Each guest received a scented pin as a favor at the dinner, and in turn presented the hostess with a bracelet engraved with her name.

Those present included Sue Driebe, Helen Kushinsky, Susan Harmon, Sally Hayburn, Kay Shook, Margaret Ann Haney, Janet Praetorius, Laureen Flagler, Judy Cramer, Nancy Westbrook, Audrey Albert, Anita's sister, Marlene and her brother, Johnnie, Gretchen Jordan and Ada Zugel had also been invited but were unable to attend.

Regional Guild

The annual conference and workshop of the Women's Guild of the Mountain Regional division of the East Pennsylvania Synod, will be held in Christ Church, in Stone Church of the Mount Bethel charge. Many representatives from local Reformed Churches plan to attend.

Committees Named By Legion Aux.

Mount Pocono — Committees appointed at the Wednesday night meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary of Pocono Memorial Post 903 of the American Legion, held at the home of Mrs. Estell Sutton, included: Child welfare, Mrs. Anna Sabies; rehabilitation, Mrs. Olive Davis; poppy sales, Mrs. Verna Kohn; Americanism, Mrs. Jeanette Walker; legislation, Mrs. Viola Curran; membership, Mrs. Ann Schneider; publicity, Miss Marian Curran; community service, Mrs. Helen Hines. These appointments were made by the newly elected president, Miss Esther Foley.

Plans for a card party were formulated which will be held on Friday night, November 14, at the home of Mrs. Viola Curran, Pine St. Misses Foley and Regan are in charge of arrangements.

Four members of the local group, Mrs. Yvonne Regan, Mrs. Estell Sutton, Miss Ellen Regan and Miss Esther Foley, attended the four-county council meeting in Northampton on Saturday.

The auxiliary will again remember the local men and women now serving with the armed forces with Christmas cards and gifts and the committee requests that relatives or friends of these service men and women send their names and addresses to Miss Foley as soon as possible.

The hostess, Mrs. Sutton, and co-hostess, Mrs. Helen Hines, served refreshments at the conclusion of the meeting.

Mother's Club Tuesday

The Mothers Club of the YMCA will meet on Tuesday night at 8 o'clock at the YMCA to complete plans for the supper they will serve for the Gradale Rally on October 19.

"Now Doug," I said, "let's understand one thing at the start. I am willing but not artistic, and table arrangement is not one of my talents. Just where do I begin?"

"That is perfectly simple," our Mr. Gordon replied. "You begin with a milk glass bowl from that box, and you put a frog in it. Then you fill the frog with these (chrysanthemums), these (candelulas), and these (greens and ivy). And that's it."

That, I thought, is what YOU think. Just wait'll you see what you get. Reaching into the box I selected a round frog of plastic with a ring of rubber at the base; also a fluted container, carefully I poured water over the frog, and began arranging flowers with what I hoped would amount to balance, symmetry, artful shading, and graceful abandon. My fears that something was amiss, were justified when Jerry O'Neill paused to remark, "That bowl is lovely. That's handsome milk glass."

We agreed that it was, and Doug mentioned that it came from our gift department. As I listened, I patiently removed the entangled flowers. Removing the frog was something else again! Tenaciously it clung to the dish. I wiggled and pulled it. It wouldn't even budge. I grabbed it and tugged firmly. The dish dangled in mid-air. This was annoying, but wonderful proof that these inexpensive gadgets are the answer to a flower lover's dream.

There being more than one way to remove a rubber frog from a dish — but not knowing what they might be, short of breakage — I selected another bowl and another frog. Things went better now, except that the various seals on the bottom of the bowl interfered with the rubber suction cup. Just as my floral work of art was completed, it swung on its side as though suddenly fatigued. Perhaps a twig of ivy twined in and out, would do the trick! It did. Temporarily, at least.

After a few more bouquets, and some tricky fussing on Doug's part with big bouquets of autumn leaves, we stood back to admire our handiwork. Not bad. Not bad at all! After one last check, we hurried out of the back door as the "early birds" began arriving at the Penn-Stroud's front entrance for the annual Fall reunion of the Wyckoff family.

It was quite an affair, I understand with 150 people attending. And how did the flowers look? Well, I have it on the word of one who attended that those MILK GLASS BOWLS from our gift department looked beautiful. So did Doug's autumn leaves. The frogs were okay too. Not one guest found his lap unexpectedly filled with flowers.

Country Sale At Salem Church Tuesday Night

Gilbert — The annual Country Sale is scheduled to be held in the Guild Hall of Salem Reformed Church, Gilbert, next Tuesday night, October 14 beginning at 7:30.

Antiques, furniture household goods, produce from the farm, poultry and baked goods will be sold to the highest bidder. The sale is conducted annually by the Youth Fellowship of the church for the benefit of the building fund. A local auctioneer will be in charge.

Just Between Us —By Bobby Westbrook

Those gentle snores emanating from all the homes in the community last night indicated that everybody was sleeping. If not the sleep of the just, at least the sleep of people who have spent many an hour in "October's bright blue weather."

Everybody was out from the babies in their strollers, to the great grandfathers on the bench in the back yard. The pig-tails were on wheels, and the boys in gangs, and the teen-agers on bikes.

Of course, for the tourists, planning foliage time meant some time spent poking along the busy main streets, where the foliage, if any, is not so flaming — but even they, dazed with color, wind and sun, seemed far less impatient than usual.

It was a good way to start Pennsylvania — and from the looks of the Pennsylvania Week calendar, the only glimpse of outdoor Pennsylvania we'll have all week. Looks as if we'd hardly find time to poke our nose out of doors between meetings, banquets and parading.

Parent-Teachers groups getting ready for their big convention; Women's Club getting organized for a week of service; church groups getting all set for the holiday bazaar.

Maybe last night's nap under the un-read Sunday papers will be the last unscheduled rest we'll have until next weekend.

Portland WSCS Will Prepare Packets For Peace

Portland — The Woman's Society of the Methodist Church met at the home of Mrs. Blair Rusling on Thursday night. Mrs. Nick Ervey presided at the meeting and Mrs. Newton Reimel read from "The Upper Room."

Mrs. Daisy Decker led the devotion on the theme, "Every Good and Perfect Gift" while Miss Ruth Williams was in charge of the program devoted to the theme "Other Ways of Living."

The society voted to give a "Packet for Peace," on World Community Day. Plans were made for a Halloween party October 29 in the church.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. John Ribble, Miss Ella Jelinek, Miss Ruth Williams, Mrs. N. Ervey, Mrs. Charles Newbaker, Miss Daisy Newbaker, Mrs. Harry Bellis, Mrs. Newton Reimel, Mrs. Harry Farleigh, Mrs. R. W. Beseker, Mrs. Fred Gardner, Mrs. Laurence Randolph and the hostesses: Mrs. LeRoy Roberts and Mrs. Rusling.

Class Votes Contributions

Portland — Class Fidelity of the Portland Presbyterian Sunday School met Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Lela Pipher on Main St., with Miss Katherine Delp presiding.

Final plans for the bazaar to be held in early December were discussed and the class voted donations to National and Foreign Missions, and to Christian Education.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. J. K. Moore, class teacher; Mrs. Carl Kramer, Mrs. E. L. Kennedy, Mrs. Olin Cramer, Mrs. G. J. Davies, Mrs. E. Randall Carpenter, Mrs. Lela Williams, Mrs. Marjorie Snyder, Mrs. C. J. Knealing, Mrs. David R. Grace Bazaar Committee Plans November Fair

Twenty members of the bazaar committee of the Grace Lutheran Church, headed by J. Fielding Vollers, met last week to make further plans for the November Fair to be held Thursday and Friday nights, November 6 and 7. There were seven organizations represented at the meeting.

Committees were appointed to erect and decorate the booths which will include a restaurant, baked goods, confectionery, stationery, and cards, parcel post, handkerchiefs, baby goods, ice cream and sodas, in addition to a Cabbage Patch, and character reading booth. There will also be booths for fancy work and for white elephants. Mr. Vollers also announced entertainments scheduled for both nights.

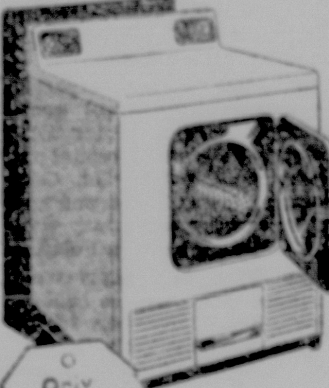

An impressive open installation marked the meeting of St. John's Sisterhood, Dames of Malta, last week with Deputy Lillian Hughes and her staff from Bangor officiating. It was held in the Malta Temple in Stroudsburg with 135 present.

Installed were Protector, Mae Lee; Queen, Josephine Smith; Ruth, Grace Slutter; Naomi, Katherine Warnick; Herald, Carl Slutter; Deputy Herald, Alberta Agins; Keeper of the Archives, Maude Walton; assistant, Christina Toth.

Johnson Oil Burner Sold By Archibald

The modern, low-cost way to carefree automatic heating for the small home owner is now made available by H. C. Archibald Co., 106 Main St.

In the "Econolux Series 150-VW" Johnson Oil Burner, H. C. Archibald Co. offers an efficient, compact unit which virtually eliminates the average home's heating problems.

The Econolux model can be used for hot water radiator or radiant heating systems. It comes complete with built-in faucet-water heater for all domestic hot water needs.

Here is the ideal heater for any average size home. It offers dependability, beauty, compactness and completely automatic operation such as has never been available before. And best of all, it brings the cost of trouble-free oil-heating down to a figure that any home can afford.

Few heating units can offer such low cost and such operating economy to prospective buyers. The Econolux burns low-priced C. S. G. No. 3 fuel . . . burns it completely. For low fuel-bills, upkeep, and all-around heating economy, you'll find it hard to match the Econolux.

The Econolux 150-VW appeals to every woman who likes beauty in her home. It is only 24 inches in diameter and 60 inches high. It is attractively finished in gleaming ivory and grey-green and black. It is so small, so quiet and so bright looking that it will be welcome in the kitchen or laundry if no basement is available.

The power unit in the Econolux is the time-tested Bankheat Burner . . . Johnson's famous fully automatic pressure-atomizing type burner, which has established amazing records of efficiency, quietness and endurance in thousands of homes and industries all over the world.

The Bankheat Burner "fires" downward, driving the flame through the central combustion cylinder and forcing the hot gases back up through 13 big heavy-duty fire tubes, thus completing a 2-pass action and capturing an exceptionally high percentage of the potential heat in the fuel.

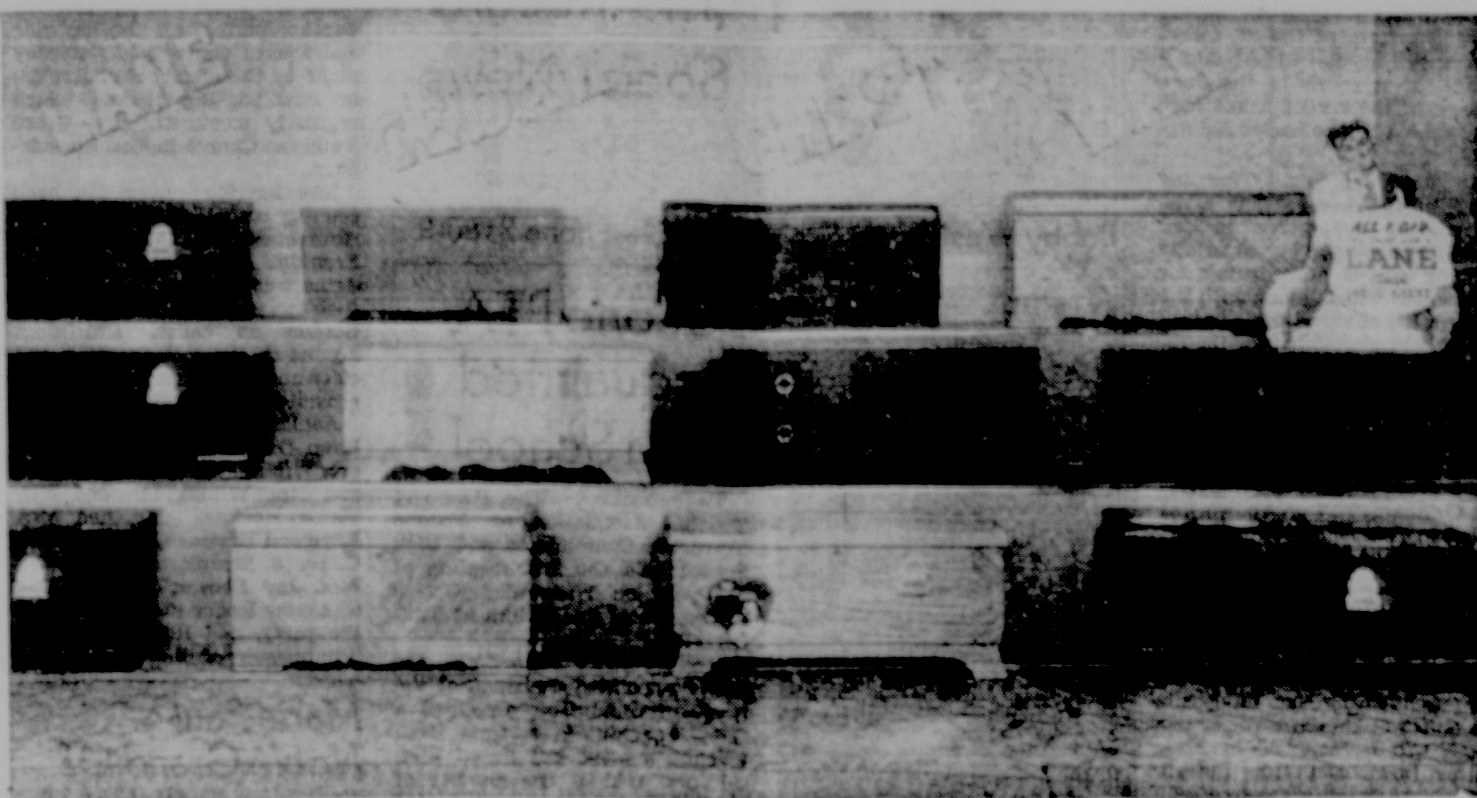

The Econolux 150-VW has input capacity of 1 1/2 gallons of C. S. G. No. 3 oil per hour or approximately 150,000 BTU output per hour.

Bear System Is Used By Local Expert

It's the Fall of the year and time to give thought to proper wheel alignment and wheel balancing of your car. This will not only eliminate excess tire wear but also help prevent dangerous skids on icy roads in the winter months ahead.

To be sure that your car is in proper alignment and that the wheels are in proper balance we suggest that you stop in and see R. D. Coss, your Bear alignment serviceman located at Bartonsville, just above the intersection along Route 611.

Mr. Coss who has years of experience in this field has the latest and finest equipment on the market today to insure proper adjustment and correction to wheel and frames to a fraction of an inch. These are a few timely thoughts that Mr. Coss has to say to the motorist of Monroe county. Wheel balancing service as a means of stopping wasteful tire wear and putting an end to vibrations which tend to shorten the life of your car is recommended by all automotive manufacturers, all tire companies, all oil concerns and public safety officials.

If your car is hard to handle—if you feel shock, shimmy or jiggle—watch out! Two things are happening:

One—Good rubber is being scraped off your tires 50% to 100% faster than normal with corresponding excess wear on the steering and front end parts.

Two—You are inviting accidents and taking unnecessary risk with your own life and the lives of all who ride with you.

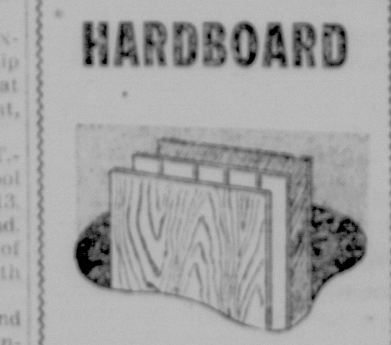

Don't be a tire waster and tempt fate besides. Bear dynamic wheel balancer will absolutely stop wasteful tire wear and end costly repair bills. This machine employs a new and revolutionary principle that tests both static and dynamic wheel balance.

Your tires are valuable. You can't afford to neglect any service that will give you the greatest possible mileage from them.

See the Bear balancer in operation—watch the uncanny way it detects dangerous wheel conditions and see how smoothly the wheel whirls after corrections are made. You'll know then why you increase tire mileage, prevent expensive repairs, and have easier safer car handling after Bear dynamic service.

Why not play safe . . . Be sure! . . . It takes only a matter of minutes to check your wheel alignment on Mr. Coss's scientific equipment. Stop in or call today . . . R. D. Coss Wheel Alignment Service at Bartonsville, Phone Stroudsburg 6071-R-1.

BIE Day Will Stress Three Local Roles

As a part of the annual "Business-Industry-Education Day" ceremonies, community residents tomorrow night will attend a banquet at The Inn at Buck Hill Falls in observance of the role played by the three elements in community life.

Scheduled as a keynote affair during Pennsylvania Week in this country, the dinner will feature an address by Dr. Howard Fehr of Columbia University.

Dr. Fehr will speak on the subject "Forward With the Four R's."

The dinner at Buck Hill Falls will serve as a climax to a full day's activity during which time many county businessmen and industrialists will take advantage of a special invitation to visit community schools.

All county schools are holding "open house" for the residents tomorrow afternoon between 1:30 and 3:30.

Ralph O. Burrows, president of the Monroe County Principals Association, heads the group which has made arrangements for the visitation and the dinner. Committee chairmen are John C. Latta, visitation chairman; Carl T. Seor, banquet and Earl Croner, public relations.

"Business - Industry - Education Day" is being sponsored cooperatively this year by the Principals Association, the Monroe county branch of the Pennsylvania State Education Association, Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg State Teachers College Branches of the PSEA.

More Meat Available For 1953

Washington, D.C. — More meat will be available in 1953 than this year, and total production may reach or surpass the 1947 record production output, the Agriculture Department forecast yesterday.

The general outlook, the department added, is for moderately lower prices for beef and veal next year than this, a possible slight decline in lamb prices and about the same as this year for pork. Meat production is expected to be 4 per cent over 1952.

Total meat consumption per person in the nation next year was forecast at 144 pounds — two pounds more than the estimate for this year, but well under the 154 pounds in 1947.

PERTUSSIN FOR BAD COUGHS
CAUSED BY COLDS

Pertussin acts at once to relieve coughs, raspy throat and hoarseness—often caused by colds. It also increases natural secretions in the throat and bronchial tubes to help loosen thick, sticky phlegm and make it easier to raise. Pertussin is safe and highly effective for both old and young. Pleasant tasting and inexpensive.

Jake Nittell finally got on Saturday night when he put together games of 214-223-216 for the rest total of 653. This is the first time Jake has hit 600 this year, his previous high being a 595 in the "A" league on opening night. Jack Darr gave Crowe's team an assist after laying off for the past week with games of 215-208 and 167 for the total of 590. This keeps his average at the 291 mark in the D-V league and was a lot of help in getting three points for Crowe's Insurance.

Bob Heller became captain of the gutter ball club Saturday afternoon in the Industrial League, when of all times, he tossed the ball into the gutter on a double. I was informed that when this happened he took over the post from Jim Harmon, who was the previous leader of the group. On the better side of bowling Marty Rowen, captain of Penn Hills started with two misses and then proceeded to strike until in the tenth frame he again missed, giving a 235 and a total of 595. Until he missed in the tenth frame he had a possible 268.

Wednesday night in the "B" league Warren "Mag" Loney made the 4-6-10 split, which is another one of the one you hear about but seldom see. Dick Greiner must have found the spot on Wednesday for Stroudsburg Auto Body when he hit 215-180-180 for the total of 573. This is more like the old Dick, and there are many more to come too.

Another bowler, who seems to hit better when the pressure is off is Stan Heller. Substituting in the Worthington Mower league a total of 355 was piled up for his credit at the end of the night and compared to his scores in the Church League, this was mammoth.

Amos Bishong is still trying to keep up his split total in the American Legion League. On Monday after a nice first game of 224 he came back with a second game of 112, just half of his first game and he managed to get seven splits out of ten tries in this game. Keep trying Amos, they can't all be splits.

Eleanor Michaels moved high single in the ladies bowling up to 200 last Tuesday, but some of the girls are beginning to move in and crowd her now. Jean Tremble hit 200 and 517 to come close in trying to beat the two existing high score that now stand. Jean did this for Ann's Dress Shop in the Stroud Ladies League.

In the County League, the CLEU team has a consistent bowler in

E. Vance. After bowling three matches, the record shows that he has amassed the amazing total of 395 pins in each of the matches. This past week though G. Harsh moved into the magic circle by hitting 600 even, having 215 for his high game. This county league really gets rolling at times and now has two of the eight men in the county, who have hit 600.

Jim Price also hit the wood on Thursday night in the "A" league, to end up with 611 at the end of the night. He had 600, number seven, the one being made by Harsh being number eight. Let's get up around that 700 mark. There was an 801 posted in the ABC during the past week, which is high at this time in the country. More details later.

One of the best things about bowling, is the fact that you haven't lost a game until the last man has rolled the tenth frame. This was proven again Wednesday night in the Record Major League when Fabe's Dairy came from behind to win the first game 974 to 929 from the VFW. The whole match was close as Fabe's won 2660 to 2608. This is some of the best bowling done to date in the Record Major and I hope a sign of what is to come.

The Twin-Bora ladies have a new leader in the team from Marsh's Foundry. These girls have held on the number one spot for two weeks now, despite the fact that this is something that that haven't been able to do in the past couple of seasons. They can't let up though as there are two teams really close and hoping that they can move in and take over.

The County Church League has two rivals in the teams of Zion Reformed and Presbyterian. Last week these two teams met and again Zion took the measure of their foe for a 3-1 count. Presbyterian members seem to have a complex about this team, as they can knock them off just when they are on top.

At the Legion on Tuesday night a close match was rolled, when the Rookies and the American Diaper Service met. Total wood for the night was won by the Rookies with 2350 to the Diapers total of 2244. The biggest difference in score came in the second game where there was a difference of 10 pins, the first game went to the Diapers by three pins and the second and third games were won by the Rookies by 10 and eight pins respectively. Marek hit 577 for the Rookies only to be beat by Armitage, his opponent on the diapers who finished with a 587.

Nittel, Darr Lead Crowe's Five To Victory

Jake Nittel rolled his best match of the season and Jack Darr retained his 200 average in the Delaware Valley League on Saturday, as they joined Crowe's Insurance to a three-point victory over Henderson Packard, on the Harmon alleys.

Nittel came up with single games of 214, 223 and 216, for a match total of 653 pins. Nittel was credited with high single and high match honors.

Darr had games of 215, 208 and 167, for a 590 total. John Fellman and Les Nicholas were the big guns in a losing cause, Fellman rolling a 217 game and Nicholas coming up with the high match total of 550 in a losing cause.

Old Forge Moves Into Top Position

Harrisburg, Pa.—Old Forge replaced Swantonville atop the Northern Division and Sunbury maintained its lead in front of the Southern Division in weekend play of the East Penn high school football conference.

Weekly ratings released by the league today show Old Forge's three wins without a loss or tie is good for a 700 to 554 lead in points over Swantonville.

Deadlock
The Sailors, defending league champions, were tied 6-6 by Larksville after 13 straight wins. West Scranton won four wins, Scranton Central two wins and a loss and Wilkes-Barre Meyers four wins trail Swantonville.

The only other undefeated northern division eleven is Wilkes-Barre GAA which has been tied once in four conference starts.

Sunbury's three wins in three starts gives the Owls 625 points, 125 ahead of Schuylkill Haven with a 3-1 record.

New York's Vaunted Defense Stops Browns Despite Three Field Goals By Injured Groza

By Ralph Roden
New York, N.Y.—New York's vaunted defense exercised its assignments with military thoroughness yesterday as the Giants turned back their arch rivals, the Cleveland Browns, 17-9, in the feature game of a full scale National Football League program.

The victory enabled the Giants, seeking their first championship since 1938, to assume undisputed possession of first place in the American Conference. The bitter rivals began the game sharing the top spot.

Meanwhile, San Francisco's rugged 45ers, strengthened their grip on first place in the National Conference by swamping the challenging Detroit Lions, 28-0.

Other Games
In other games the Chicago Bears scored a 38-20 decision over the winless Dallas Texans, Los Angeles's defending champion

Rams posted their first victory of the season, beating the Green Bay Packers, 30-28, Philadelphia outlasted Pittsburgh, 26-21, and the Chicago Cardinals downed the Washington Redskins, 17-6. The six games were witnessed by 209,050 fans.

New York's stonewall defense limited the Browns' rushing game to a puny 21 yards. Only the magic toe of Lou Groza kept Cleveland's hopes alive before a turnover of 51,838 fans in the Forest City's vast Municipal Stadium.

Groza accounted for all of Cleveland's points with three field goals including a prodigious 52-yard boot. The ace kicker said after the game that he could not recall any of his field goals. Groza suffered a head injury early in the game.

The Giants entered the first period trailing, 9-7, but Ray Poole put them ahead for keeps with a 25-yard placekick. Halfback Tom Landry clinched the game by intercepting an Otto Graham pass and racing 30 yards for a touchdown.

San Francisco also threw up a "Don't shoot no pass" defense at the Lions who were handicapped by the absence of first string halfback Doak Walker and fullback Pat Harder, out with injuries. The Lions managed to gain only 65 yards.

Rookie Hugh McElhenny and veteran Joe Perry sparked the 45ers drive. McElhenny gained 50 yards in 12 carries and scored once while Perry picked up 36 yards in 21 attempts. A record football crowd of 55,822 fans saw the game in Detroit's Briggs Stadium.

Bob Williams, former Notre Dame luminary, led the Bears to victory. Williams, playing only the first half, completed 13 out of 15 passes good for 163 yards.

Pittsburgh, Penn Fans Up In Clouds

Philadelphia, Pa.—Football followers of Pittsburgh and Penn were up in the clouds yesterday as the Panthers and Quakers returned home clutching two of the choicest grid scraps in the nation. The Panthers of Pitt, under new Head Coach Lowell Red Dawson went to South Bend, Ind., supposedly mere cannon fodder for surging Notre Dame. But when the smoke of battle cleared, there were the golden Panthers with a 22-19 upset win over Notre Dame, the eighth ranking team in the nation. It was the first Pitt win over Notre Dame since 1937 following eight straight Irish wins.

At Princeton, N. J., the unbeaten Tigers of Princeton sought to win their 25th straight game at the expense of a rugged Penn team, but instead wept over their first defeat since October 22, 1949. Penn pushed across two touchdowns in the second quarter and then repelled at least a half dozen Princeton touchdown assaults to win 13 to 7.

Unbeaten
Around the rest of the state you can find 11 unbeaten and untied football teams. Penn and Penn State haven't lost but have been tied. Sitting at the top of the heap is Villanova with four straight victories, its latest a 20 to 0 job over Wake Forest. Close behind come powerful Bucknell, Amos Alonzo Stagg's lads from Susquehanna, Westminster, Bloomsburg, Clarion, Franklin & Marshall, Shippensburg, Lock Haven, Lebanon Valley and West Chester.

In the nation, Ohio State proved that a rock-solid defense is still a good way to win a football game. The Buckeyes, in their first football hour in some time, stopped Wisconsin's dream back field five times within the 20 yard line and smashed the number one team in the Associated Press poll, 20-14.

The often-overlooked defensive stars also played a prominent part as Georgia Tech edged past Tulane, 14-0, the Navy downed William & Mary by the same, 14-0. The value of pass defense also was demonstrated in Illinois' 48-14 crushing of Washington. The Illini, who couldn't stop the passes of Wisconsin's Jerry Halusa, and lost to the Badgers, knocked down virtually all the aerials thrown by Washington's able passer, Don Heinrich.

Maryland, ranked fourth in the AP poll, clouted the Georgians around to a 37-9 tune with a varied attack directed by Jack Scarbath and featuring the running of Ed Fullerton and Chet Hanulak. That was number 16 in a row for Maryland and, with Princeton's streak snapped, they rank only behind Georgia Tech and Michigan State in successive victories.

Tech, number five in the poll, and Michigan State, number two, both have 18 in a row. State, performing before 40,000 homefolks and millions of televisioners in the TV game of the day, added passing to its already potent running attack for a 48-6 walloping of Texas A&M. The powerful Spartans broke loose for four touchdowns in the final quarter to make it a rout.

Leads Attack
Led by 18-year-old Pete Vann, who completed 12 of 21 passes and directed the attack superbly, the Army Cadets overwhelmed Dartmouth to gain a 37-0 half-time lead and a final 37-7 verdict.

Navy's tight-knit defense limited Williams and Mary to 71 yards rushing and 43 passing. The Midcoast got their big test, after three straight victories, against Maryland this Saturday.

THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME

Bethlehem High Listed Among Major Undefeated Grid Squads

Harrisburg, Pa.—Closing in on the halfway mark of the 1952 season 25 unbeaten and untied major powers lead the Pennsylvania high school pickup parade. Western Pennsylvania, with 13 schools from both the 53-member Western Conference and the 36-member "AA" class of the WPIAL, boasts the best representation on the list of elite after the fifth week of play.

And the fifth weekend earned the distinction of being just about the first of the season not to produce a string of upsets in one section or another.

Upsets
However, it was not a weekend without upsets. The most stunning was Philadelphia West Catholic's 40-0 lacing at the hands of North Catholic in a Quaker City Catholic League contest. It was the first setback for last year's Philadelphia champion after 12 wins. The major all-winning eleven include:

West: Alliquippa, Beaver Falls, Johnstown, Monaca, Redstone, Washington, Wilkesburg, of the WPIAL; Lewistown, Bellwood-Antis, Ebensburg, Shute Twp., DuBois and Lock Haven, of the Western Conference.

Central: York and Steelton, Central Penn.

East: Bethlehem, Big Three; independent West Scranton, Old Forge, Wilkes-Barre Meyers, Minersville, Lansford, and Nesquehoning East Penn, Towanda; and Abington and Upper Darby Suburban Philadelphia.

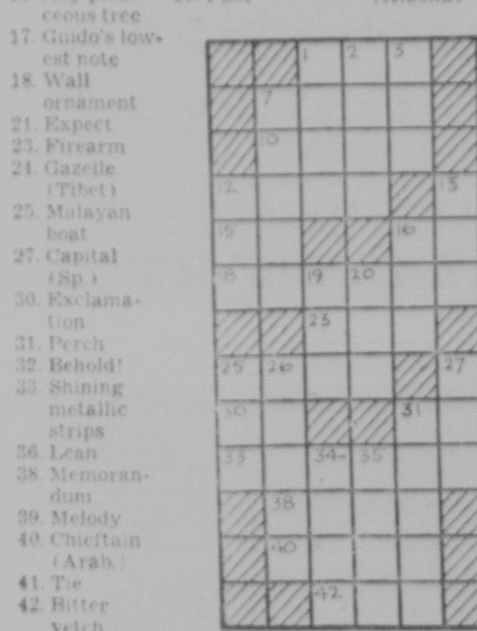

Among the 25 are four teams which haven't suffered a regular season defeat since the 1950 season. They are with their number of consecutive victories: Monaca 14, Bellwood-Antis 15, Lewistown 15, and West Scranton 11.

Both Monaca and Bellwood-Antis were beaten in post season playoffs last year. Lewistown's mighty Indians notched No. 14 by a 14-6 count over previously unbeaten Burnham-Derry for 20 wins in the last 21 starts.

Other battles between all-winning eleven resulted in the first setback of the year for five more squads over the weekend. Beaver Falls downed Butler 7-0. Monaca racked up number four in Class AA competition, 35-14, over Clairton, and Wilkesburg defeated Turtle Creek, 19-7, all in games of the Pittsburgh area QPIAL.

Seranton Clips St. Francis

Loretto, Pa., Pa.—Long evasive runs by Jim Lavery and short power smashes by his fellow halfback, Paul Burak, gave Seranton University a 23-6 victory over St. Francis College yesterday.

It was Seranton's second win against no defeats and St. Francis' fourth loss in a row.

Five Marches
Seranton put on five successful touchdown marches, ranging from 51 to 66 yards each and featuring runs of 20, 24 and 47 yards by Lavery. Lavery's 47-yarder brought one of the tallies and Burak plowed short distances for the other four.

St. Francis scored in the final period after fullback Pat Nolan grabbed a fumble on the Seranton 25. Freshman quarterback Dick Cellini flipped three passes good for seven, 12 and five yards, then plunged across for the touchdown.

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

MONDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1952
March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—By having an iron fist in a velvet glove you can ward off many unpleasant and unwise costly incidents. Build good will and only worthy friend ship.
April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—Be alert to new and lucrative opportunities. Dispel gloominess. P. N. on the pleasant, perhaps romantic side.
May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—Aspects encourage advancement, profits ahead. News will be helpful, cheering; be ready and spiritual the last.
June 22 to July 21 (Cancer)—You have obstacles, keep a position but still should relax at due times. Things are not less contentious when you are inwardly calm. Keep eyes open.
July 22 to August 21 (Leo)—Amor favor all sound work. Important problems, reconstruction, community work, favored.
August 22 to September 21 (Virgo)—Move along with reason and tact. Make no drastic changes without thorough study of all angles. Patience is one of your virtues; it can be of great assistance now.
September 22 to October 21 (Libra)—Excellent principles for most personal and business affairs, especially dealing with property, home industries, and business, for good luck.
October 22 to November 21 (Scorpio)

Assistance Continues Its Decline

Public assistance lists continued to move downward during the last half of September — in Monroe county and in the State.

Monroe had 724 assistance cases during that period. Representing 2.1 per cent of the total population, this figure included 45 general assistance; 329 old-age assistance; 263 aid to dependent children; 43 aid to the disabled and 44 blind pension cases.

On the State level 56 counties participated in the general decrease. Industrial area registered the largest drops, while rural and some summer resort areas showed only small declines or slight increases.

TC Students Have Roller Rink Party

More than 130 college students attended the first skating party of the school year at Stroud Roller Rink, Friday, Oct. 10.

The skating party was sponsored by the newly-organized Men's and Women's Recreation Association on campus at State Teachers College, East Stroudsburg.

Chaperones for the party were Miss Kay Griffin, Mr. and Mrs. Kurt Wimer, Chris Davis and Miss Helen Brown.

Purpose of the recreation association is to organize and sponsor group recreation activity within the two boroughs for the benefit of students attending the local college.

Firemen Meet At Lehigh

The third annual convention and banquet of the Carbon County Firemen's Assn. was held at Lehigh Saturday. A demonstration of fire fighting technique held in the morning was witnessed by approximately 500 persons. Fire Chief Corvin Solt, Lehigh, was in charge.

A parade was held during the afternoon when $650 cash prizes were awarded participants.

The banquet at the Elks Club at night was attended by 226 firemen and their ladies. Postmaster Wilbur Warner was toastmaster. A. F. Everett, Stroudsburg, chairman of the executive committee, represented the Four County Firemen's Association. Samuel S. Everett of Stroudsburg was also in attendance.

The latter represented the Phoenix Firemen's Assn. at the 73rd annual convention of the State Firemen's Assn. of Pennsylvania at Scranton last week. He was accompanied by his wife.
